Message from Dr. Tom Brennan Director of Athletics

Dr. Thomas Brennan

Greetings from 20th Street and Olney Avenue.

It is hard (for those of us in the Athletic Department) to believe that the summer has passed and that we will begin another academic year. AY 1999/2000 represented our fifth year of competition in the Atlantic 10 Conference and our first year of competition in the MAAC Football League. The opportunities to advance the program are outstanding; the challenges are also significant.

I am entering my third full year as Athletic Director and feel very good about the progress that we have made in many areas within the intercollegiate athletics program. For example, during the recent past, significant facility enhancements have been realized (Gola Arena Renovation, Hall of Athletes' Renovation, Fitness Center Renovation, etc.), full time coaching positions have been added (W/Soccer, W/Softball, W/Field Hockey/Lacrosse), scholarships for men and women have been increased, and most importantly, the academic athletic program continues to impress (an 85% graduation rate for La Salle student athletes). The Explorer Club has become an authentic fund development/booster organization that provides annual/additional support to all of our intercollegiate athletic teams. The Explorer Club has been and will continue to be critical to our efforts to build a successful athletics program.

As we enter the 21st century, I think we can all be proud of what the Athletic Department has achieved and what we stand for. Thanks for all that you have done and please call upon me if I can ever be of assistance. I look forward to your continuing involvement and support of La Salle Athletics.

Director of Athletics

Where are they Now? Cheryl Coppola - Class of '95

Cheryl Coppola

Cheryl Coppola, a champion La Salle diver in the mid-90s, has had some exciting moments in her young, active life. The latest came early this summer when she received a letter informing her that she had been voted into the La Salle Hall of Athletes.

"That was exciting," she said, "to be recognized and honored by the school where I enjoyed so many great moments."

While most of those "moments" came when she was nailing down diving awards and championships for four years, another really big one came in June of the 1996 Olympic year. Unknown to her, Cheryl's mother, Fran, had entered her name with a letter telling about Cheryl's exploits at La Salle, where she achieved a 3.50 GPA in sociology, her work as a diving instructor at Torresdale Swim Club and her appearances in a traveling diving show to a search committee sponsored by Coca-Cola for possible torch bearers throughout the Philadelphia area.

Cheryl was selected from a list of several hundred, and in the early part of an historic June night, she carried the Olympic torch for a stretch on West Chester Pike in suburban Upper Darby.

Asked to select one "major moment" in her La Salle career, which wound up in 1994, Coppola pointed out her semifinal finish in the U.S. Senior Nationals at the University of Minnesota.

That was only but one in a series of Explorer accomplishments and one reason Cheryl, now a physical therapist assistant at Frankford Campus Hospital, will be a member of the 2001 Hall of Athletes inductees at a date to be determined later.

Others joining Cheryl Coppola in the upcoming Hall of Athletes ceremonies (and what they're up to these days) will be:

- JENN COLE '93 (basketball): In pharmaceutical sales with Wyeth-Ayerst Labs, Cincinnati; living in Mason, Ohio;
- MIKE MOSLEY '82 (track): Senior Account Agent, AllState Insurance Co., Montgomeryville, PA., living in North Wales, PA.;
- TOM BONK '82 (baseball): Pharmaceutical sales for SmithKline Beechan, lives in Philadelphia; and
- TOM MCKEON '79 (swimming): Money manager, West Chester (PA) Capital Advisors, lives in Phoenixville, PA.

NovaCare and La Salle Join Forces

NovaCare's physical therapy facility provides various rehabilitative services to meet the individual needs of each customer and patient. Treatments can target limitations in strength, range of motion, dexterity, work capacity and activities of daily living.

John P. Toohr, P.T., ATC, has 15 years of clinical/sports medicine experience and specializes in working with athletes and orthopedic rehabilitation patients. Presently, John serves as the physical therapist for La Salle University Athletics. Kristin DiConstanzo, ATC, is the certified athletic trainer (ATC) for La Salle University Athletics. Prior to working with the La Salle staff, Kristin was the head athletic trainer for West Deptford High School in Southern New Jersey.

Project TeamWork

La Salle University's Project TeamWork relies on teamwork among the university's athletic department, student-athletes, the community and the generosity of a group of sponsors who provide financial and service assistance.

Project TeamWork is the Department of Athletics youth outreach and community service program. La Salle's Director of Athletics, Dr. Thomas Brennan, introduced the program and was recently named to the Board of Directors of Big Brothers/Big Sisters. Peter D'Orazio, La Salle's Assistant Athletic Director of Advancement, was also a big proponent of TeamWork and was named to the Board of Directors for the Philadelphia Inner City Games.

"Project TeamWork is highly consistent with the Lasallian Tradition and the Christian Brothers' well-recognized history of exemplary service to youth and the community," Brennan said. "It occupies a high priority within our athletic department."

Part of its success and enhancement depends on grants from foundations such as the Patricia Kind Foundation, which has awarded $75,000 over the next three years. With this grant, a fulltime position will be added to further develop the existing Project TeamWork program.

In implementing Project TeamWork, Brennan called on his background in outreach and community service, which includes Special Olympics involvement in Maryland and New Mexico, the Mayor's Gang Task Force in San Jose, California, and Big Brothers/Big Sisters.

"The input of the athletic staff and La Salle student-athletes has enabled us to make considerable progress in this effort," Brennan said.

Many recent events have helped Project TeamWork escalate into a successful means of generating progress in the community. Men's basketball coach Bill "Speedy" Morris was inducted into the Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) Hall of Fame for his charitable endeavors throughout the Philadelphia diocese. La Salle's Assistant Athletic Director, Peter D'Orazio, has done extensive work with the Inner City Games. Graduate student and former La Salle track standout Marc Cianfrani has served the athletic department as the coordinator for the project.

Foremost among the activities hosted by Project TeamWork for area youth, especially Philadelphia Big Brothers/Big Sisters, have been trips to the Franklin Institute, the New Jersey State Aquarium, a Clean-Up Day in Fairmount Park and their participation in Youth Days at La Salle sporting events.

As part of Project TeamWork, the athletic department established an Adopt-A-School program. Currently, student-athletes work as mentors and tutors with several local schools. In addition, students at the schools are invited to participate in clinics and workshops and attend La Salle sporting events and other activities.

Perhaps Project TeamWork's goals and achievements are best summed up as part of a citation it received from the National Consortium for Academics and Sports in being named to the NCAS Honor Roll.

"We thank you for all the hard work and dedication displayed by your department for the well-being of your student-athletes and your community," wrote NCAS executive director Richard Lapchick. "Your leadership enables your student-athletes to succeed and to give hope and inspiration to those in their communities. The NCAS acknowledges and appreciates all that you do."

Comments, feedback and suggestions can be sent to Peter D'Orazio, Assistant Athletic Director, via email at explorerclub@lasalle.edu or by phone at 215-951-1545.

 CORRECTION  Tom Cislo was inadvertently listed as a Blue Club ($50) member in the previous Explorer Club Donor Roll issue. He is actually a member of the Varsity Club ($500). La Salle would like to apologize for the mistake.

Compliance Corner

As a friend and supporter of the La Salle University Athletics Program, the NCAA requires that you adhere to the same regulations as our coaches, administrators, and staff members.

1. You are a "representative" of La Salle University Athletics

Athletics

The NCAA considers you a representative of La Salle University Athletics if you have ever:

- Been a member of the Explorer Club or promoted La Salle intercollegiate athletics through other organizations;
- Made a financial contribution to the Athletic Department or the Explorer Club;
- Assisted in the recruitment of prospects or been asked by an Athletic Department staff member to assist in recruiting;
- Assisted in providing benefits to enrolled student-athletes (e.g., summer jobs) or their families; or
- Promoted the La Salle Athletic Program in any other manner.

2. Once an athletics representative, Always an athletics representative

Involvement in any of the above activities identifies you as an "athletics representative" and you must maintain this identity indefinitely. Whether or not you continue to make contributions to La Salle Athletics, you must continue to observe the regulations.

3. Who is a prospective student-athlete?

A prospective student-athlete ("prospect") is a student who has started classes for the ninth grade and has been recruited by a La Salle coach, staff member, or representative of La Salle Athletics.

Ask Buck

Larry Koretz was La Salle's 86-87 Men's Basketball Captain.

The name of the column is Ask Buck, and that's exactly what you've done so we'll try to answer some of the questions.

Sonny Hall, a La Salle fan from North Wildwood, NJ, wants to be reminded of the Explorers' great ride to the National Invitation Tournament finals in 1987. Actually, what he wanted to know was the starting five that season. Before we give you the answer, think about it and you will find it after Buck's recollection of that great time.

That's easy for Buck who was at every one of the games, starting with an 86-84 win at Villanova, then at an 89-81 St. Patrick's Night victory over Niagara in Buffalo, followed by a Palestra 70-50 romp over Illinois State.

It was on to Madison Square Garden for the semifinals and a 92-73 win over Arkansas-Little Rock, only to be followed by a heart-breaking 84-80 championship game loss to Southern Mississippi.

And the starting five in most of the 20-13 season was captain Larry Koretz, Tim Legler, Rich Tarr, Craig Conlin and freshman Lionel Simmons, who led the team that season with 670 points for a 20.3 average.

And thanks to Sonny for reminding us of a great La Salle moment.

Several others of you have inquired about the Hall of Athletes, who's in it, who's not and other information. As for who has been inducted, there are about 100 former athletes, coaches and administrators who have been enshrined since the Hall was formed in 1961.

The five charter members include three Olympians -- Joe Verdeur (swimming), Al Cantello and Ira Davis (track and field). The other two are basketball Hall of Famer Tom Gola and football great Frank Loughney.

Since La Salle didn't become completely co-ed until 1970, there were no women honored until Mary O'Connor in 1978. She was the school's first women's administrator.

The first La Salle University woman athlete in the fold was Diane Moyer, in 1980, for her field hockey exploits, although she also participated in softball and basketball.

If you believe you may have a worthy candidate, drop Buck a line in care of our alter ego - Bob Vetrone, Sr., La Salle University, Box 805, Philadelphia, PA, 19141-1199 or e-mail at vetrone@lasalle.edu. And that goes for any other La Salle athletic question you may have.
