

1-1995

Beggar's Bullets: Captain Trips Bums Clevo or What a Dull Trip it Was

Chris Butler

Follow this and additional works at: <http://digitalcommons.lasalle.edu/vietnamgeneration>

Part of the American Studies Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Butler, Chris (1995) "Beggar's Bullets: Captain Trips Bums Clevo or What a Dull Trip it Was," Vietnam Generation: Vol. 2 : No. 2 , Article 25.

Available at: <http://digitalcommons.lasalle.edu/vietnamgeneration/vol2/iss2/25>

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by La Salle University Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Vietnam Generation by an authorized editor of La Salle University Digital Commons. For more information, please contact careyc@lasalle.edu.

Beggar's Bullets
Captain Trips Bums Clevo or What a Short Dull Trip It Was a song by Chris Butler

A blackened stage. On a rear screen, images fade up and out of Water Street in downtown Kent on May 1, 1970. Walter's Cafe... a bonfire in the middle of the street... a cruising cop car... police in riot gear... shattered storefront windows... finally, a looted hardware and lawn care store... then a shot of Steve Drucker with an expression of absurd glee wheeling a green Scott's lawn fertilizer spreader down Main Street!

A pin spot hits a performer with an acoustic guitar. It's me, and I sing:

holster that fist, boy ummmm... that's what I used to say back in the days when I had words and reason in my armory

gone... all gone... wasted now outgunned... arrested my words netted in their newspapers reason bounced off their helmets just like history

we plot in poverty and silence you know we have to...
they took away our drums every window is my enemy's eye every rock is a beggar's bullet and when I bring the two together

it's my turn, my time, this street is my state

I am riot
not just some whiner with a city's worth of sidewalks now stacked in my armory

and I'm a poet I rhyme in cobblestone granite the art of the instant arc my only ideology

and every window... my manifesto every rock... a beggar's bullet when I bring the two together

it's my turn, my time, this street is my state

and when I see a mountain... I see ammunition and when I see a mountain... I see ammunition beggar's bullets flying
through your televisions

into your living rooms round the corner of Tank and Bayonet down all your lovely boulevards now draped in gas and barricade am I senseless? no!

exhilarated? absolutely!
cause one thing that's for sure I'm not a victim anymore

every window...
every window...
... the excruciating tension between yes and no
...between the only two choices I ever seem to have
... of either being anxious or depressed
every window...
... is my skin
... my song
... my biography

and every rock is a beggar's bullet
when I bring the two together

it's my turn, my time, this street is my state

Beggar's Bullets

and when I see a mountain... I see ammunition and when I see a mountain... I see ammunition
beggar's bullets flying
through your televisions

The song pauses for the "guitar solo," a slide fades up of Jeff Miller—the innocent, idealistic high school picture that all the TV stations used. I hold up Jeff's sweater that I never returned... his copy of the Dead's album Live Dead that I also never returned. The "solo" is his story.

i had all their records. i had all their records and i'd played them so many times i'd worn them out. then i'd buy new ones and wear them out. even today i can sing ever note, every drum part, every solo from "st. steven" straight through to "turn on your lovelight." i could play them too. i'd brought my drum set down to school, but my roommates said uh uh we've got to study this  $\frac{1}{4}$ , and so it being the Twang Age and all, i'd gone out and bought my first electric guitar—a single cut-away Les Paul Junior for 50 bucks. it would be worth around 500 now. i got the money working part-time at an antique shop called airflow junk, the owner paying me \$10 a day under the table, unless he was high. then he would ask "have i paid you yet?" and i'd say "no." this would happen 2 or 3 times on a good day.

now, i would spend hours noodling along with their tunes especially the ones on the live album til i got the licks right, and was very impressed that a band of known drug abusers could play a song in  $1\frac{1}{8}$  time and more or less come down on the 1 together. the music was only a simple major scale—book 1 page 1 lesson 1, but to me that was the beauty of it! so imagine my excitement when i opened the cleveland plain dealer's friday magazine and saw that for one night and one night only belking bros. proudly presenting in their first area appearance... the grateful dead.

on d-day, 7 or 8 of us cut classes, piled into my vw, drove the 30 miles from kent to cleveland, coped with a flat tire not spare and ran out of gas twice. see, my bug's 'fuel delivery system' had a hole in it and could only take an 8th of a tank at a time no gas gauge either. but we had anticipated all this. we'd left 6 hours before showtime so we could get lost. we had the proper amount of controlled substances in our bloodstreams. we knew there was a long journey ahead of us... after all, this was the dead! so there would be adventures built in and ordeals to endure and little trials and challenges to experience and that we could and would triumph because when it came right down to it we knew this one shining truth—we were immune! nothing could stop us.

and so of course we found a parking space right in front of public hall—proof! and so of course we bumped into the rest of the kent contingent in the lobby—more proof! and oohhh the stage was ssssoooooo beautiful could you believe all that equipment? they'd replaced the stock speaker cabinet grill cloth of their guitar amplifiers with tie-dye! even the p.a. stacks were tie-dye! even... hey! there they are! even the band was in tie-dye! ...and jumping like a willy's in a 4-wheel drive.

but good as it was, it was not good enough. i had to get closer closer i wanted to be the music not watch it it seemed so phony so square this arbitrary 4th wall concept separating 'band on stage' from 'people in audience' weren't we all one? and didn't we lose so much with the artificial divisions we were forced forced! to live with dictated mind you dictated! by a straight society who didn't know they just didn't know.

the hell's angels who had been hired as concert security had all gone to take a collective leak or gang rape or hippette or something and magic magic magic of magics there was an open door right by the stage no one was watching it the band had drifted into "dark star" and they had fired a spotlight at the cut glass mirrored ball and pinpoints of light careened around the hall fast at first and then slowly slowed down and then aahhhh actually went the other way and no one else had seen the unguarded door but me it was for me there are no accidents. a path had been cleared and it was my duty and destiny to take it. so in i went and the next thing i knew i was in the wings on the stage and oh it was wonderful and this beautiful lady said hi to me and it was Mountain Girl! the Mountain Girl! a real merry prankster and she smiled at me and asked if i wanted a beer and i said yes and she showed me a whole wash tub a whole wash tub! of iced coors and i had one of the band's beers! and then i had a few more and then i heard the unmistakable opening lines to "st. stephen" the patron saint of hungary i am half hungarian it was no accident there are no accidents and off we went and i knew the rumors must be true that owsley had really brewed up a batch of his finest and had put it in a mason jar and before each show garcia would dip his finger in it it's true i was there it sounded like it anyway and i was it and i sang along and danced and we worked it we that's right we! we worked through the whole 2 sides of the album and i was the band the band was me and pigpen lurched into "lovelight" and i sang along and then i grabbed 2 empty beer cans and i started playing when the percussion breaks came right on cue i knew where they were i was on jerry's side of the stage that wonderful face so deep lined and wise with that wonderful beatific look of pure knowing and i sang louder and banged the cans harder and that wonderful face and its halo of hair slowly took forever drifted floated over to me to me and he was no more than a foot away i could smell the seat and the reefer smoke on him and from out of that wonderful mouth and those twinkling eyes came at the top of his lungs WILL YOU SHUT THE FUCK UP YOU FUCKING ASSHOLE!!!!

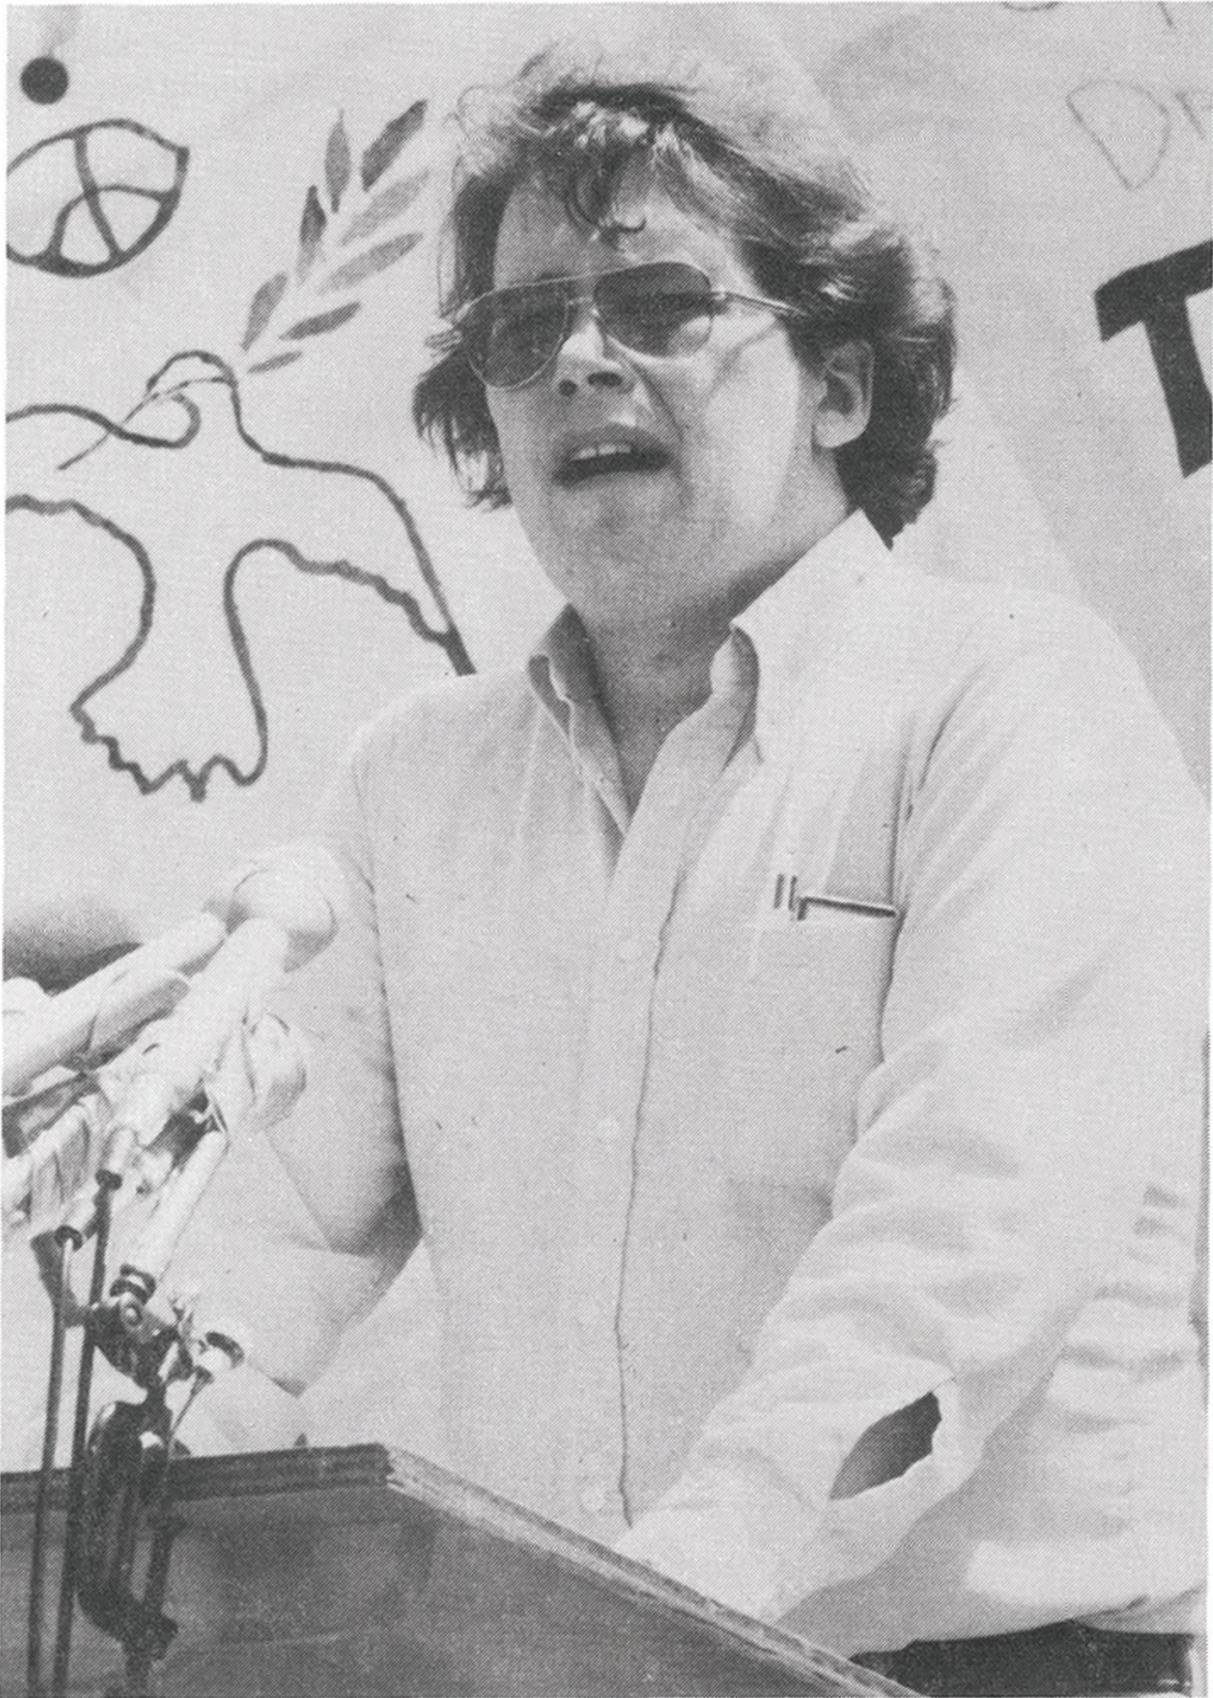

I sold my guitar back to the guy I'd bought it from for thirty-five dollars and lent my drums to my friend Jeff Miller. He didn't get to play them much. Three weeks later he was shot and killed by the Ohio National Guard.

Beggar's Bullets

The image has cross-faded during the last paragraph to the picture of Jeff in a cowboy shirt and headband giving the finger to the National Guard. I sing the chorus one last time:

when I see a mountain... I see ammunition
when I see a mountain... I see ammunition
beggar's bullets flying
through your televisions

The image fades to black. The world has changed forever.

John Rowe addresses a crowd during the May 4, 1980 commemorative program. Rowe provided most of the photographs for this volume, allowing us to select them from his extensive collection documenting activism at Kent State.