 Racism in a Black Box ***

A Unique Focus Group

Examining the Issues of Racism, Homosexuality, and Gender

Thursday, March 19th

7:00 - 9:00 p.m.

A Call to Faculty & Staff to Participate!

"If all the world were blind, we wouldn't have racism." This is a unique opportunity for you to participate in a candid discussion on racism on- and off-campus, homosexuality, and male/female relationships. The discussion is candid because the meeting is held in a TOTALLY blackened room and participants will not know who else is in attendance.

Limited to 20 diverse individuals, participants will be selected by a sub-committee of the Diversity Week Planning Committee. Those selected will be notified on Monday, March 16th. On Thursday, March 19th, they will be led blind-folded to the meeting site. After being assigned a random seat and the room darkened, blind-folds will be removed. Guided by a facilitator and given their total anonymity, it is hoped that participants can share their strongly held views on racism, homosexuality, and gender issues.

If you are interested in participating in this program, please fill out the form below and return it to Ben Alvarez, Student Life Office, Box 835 by noon on Monday, March 16th. If you have any questions, please call Ben at 951-1371.

Educational Consultant

Nego Gato
Afro-Brazilian Dance
and Capoeira Ensemble

Maura Cullen, a nationally recognized and dynamic presenter, addresses the issue of diversity, why it is important, and how diversity impacts the individual. Ms. Cullen's keynote presentation will be interactive and include slides and music to relate how a vision of diversity starts from within.

Nego Gato performs immediately following the keynote. This Afro- Brazilian dance and capoeira ensemble will perform works from African influenced Brazilian dances such as Maculele, Candomble, Afoxe, and Samba. The ensemble includes Nego Gato (Jose Sena), a master of Capoeirista, an African martial art that combines dance, gymnastics, and acrobatics.

English Department

What's New for Fall, 1992, Pre-Registration

Changes in English Core IB (Three-Course Sequence)

English 343 (Twentieth Century American Literature) will no longer be a capstone course for non-majors fulfilling Core IB (three-course sequence) requirements--exceptions to this rule require the consent of the chair. English 343 will be a course primarily intended for English majors. Two new courses will be added to the list of capstone courses for non-majors and can be taken by English majors as English electives (see English 340 and English 371, below).

New English Courses

English 340 Recent American Writing

(Dr. Culjak: MTHF3; Bro. Mollenhauer: MWTH6)

Students will be introduced to literary developments in the post-modern era, serious American authors as well as those emerging as promising figures. Readings will include the novel, short story, poem, play, essay, non-fictional narrative. Writers could include Morrison, Carver, Pynchon, Tyler, Walker, Irving, Wolfe, Oates, Ozick, et al. Designed with the non-major in mind; may be used as a capstone course in any of the three English sequences (poetry, fiction, drama) in Core IB.

English 371 Other Voices, Other Cultures

(Dr. Merians: MWTH6)

Readings in selected works from Africa, Asia, Europe, and the Pacific Rim, emphasizing literature as a reflection of its cultural background. Designed with the non-major in mind; may be used as a capstone course in any of the three English sequences (poetry, fiction, drama) in Core IB.

New Numbers for English Courses

A number of courses in the professional and creative writing track have been renumbered and have had their catalogue descriptions changed (205 [How a Writer Works] is now 318 [Advanced Composition]; 308 [Professional Writing] is now 408; 309 [Professional Writing II] is now 409 [Technical and Scientific Writing]; 310 [Editing and Publishing] is now 410). Here is the new catalogue description of the course most frequently taken by non-majors (the old English 205, the new English 318):

English 318 Advanced Composition

(Dr. Tiedecken: TWF1; Dr. M. Molyneaux: MTHF2)

A course in writing and rewriting skills designed to show students how to write more effectively for different purposes and to different audiences. Students should already demonstrate basic writing proficiency. The course will permit students to develop talents in various kinds of writing: essays, articles, and reviews. Attention will be paid to a writer's methods and resources.

ANNOUNCEMENT

SCHOLARSHIP OPPORTUNITIES FOR STUDENTS WHO DEMONSTRATE UNUSUAL INTEREST AND COMPETENCY IN WRITING

The ROBERT L. DEAN SCHOLARSHIP FUND exists to provide grants to students who have demonstrated unusual interest and competence in writing. In past years, grants have ranged from $250.00 to more than $1500.00, depending upon the earnings of the fund. The scholarship was established with a generous grant from Eugene W. Jackson, Chairman of the Board of the Spring House Corporation, a medical publishing firm. The fund honors the memory of Robert L. Dean, '41.

TO BE ELIGIBLE:

- * you must be a junior or senior in the year the grant is awarded, that is, in School Year 1992-93.
- * you must submit an application and writing samples.
- * you remain eligible even if you have received a grant in your junior year.

TO APPLY:

- * Pick up an application form in the English Department Office (O-141). Complete the application form and submit the required portfolio of your writing and the completed application to the Secretary of the department in O-141.

DEADLINE: March 20

SELECTION PROCESS:

The Robert L. Dean scholars will be chosen by a committee consisting of faculty members from the Department of English. This committee, appointed by the Chair, will establish selection procedures, review the applications and portfolios, and determine the number of awards to be made. In making its selection(s), the committee will be interested in students who have demonstrated overall academic excellence and a talent and an interest in written communication.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF AWARDS:

By April 15.
