Curriculum Design Committee

Minutes of the April 24, 1997 Open Meeting

Committee members present: Rosemary Barbera, Eileen Giardino, Lynn Miller, Marc Moreau, Fran Ryan, Steve Smith, Margaret Watson, Jeannie Welsh, Sam Wiley

Excused: Tom McPhillips

Introductory remarks: Marc Moreau, chair of the Curriculum Design Committee (CDC), began the meeting by noting that the task of the CDC to date has been to identify learning goals for the revised curriculum. He explained that the committee has not discussed specific courses that might address these goals. The open meeting was scheduled to provide an opportunity for the La Salle community to provide feedback on the committee's learning goals proposal. Once the curriculum goals are finalized, the committee will focus on working with faculty, staff and students to identify and develop courses that address these goals. The committee intends to work on this next step through the Fall semester, and is aiming to finalize the proposal for the revised curriculum in the Spring.

Open discussion: The floor was then opened for comment. The following is a summary of the comments made by members of the La Salle community (other than CDC members).

- Curriculum revision should begin, not with learning goals, but with a sense of what kind of institution we want to be. We need to identify the type of school, the type of faculty, and the majors we want.
- The learning goals do not incorporate the study of a foreign language. This distinguishes us in a very negative way from other institutions of higher education. The lack of foreign language requirement has devalued our degree and the credentials we have given our students.
- The goals should be stated in a way that makes more explicit the fact that they are student-focused and learning-focused (e.g., "The student should ..." rather than "The curriculum should ..."). They are learning goals, not teaching goals.
- Goals to develop interpersonal skills and leadership skills should be incorporated.
- "Communication goals" should be clarified. Communication with whom? Is this meant narrowly (e.g., communication with people in the neighborhood) or broadly (e.g., communication with people who speak other languages)?
- The committee should recognize that in order to improve communication skills, we must require more of students than simply speaking more often in courses. The focus should be on students learning to speak well.
- Skills concerning artistic expression (e.g., painting, music, creative writing) have been omitted from the list of goals.
