In these hectic days of reorganization, it may seem that the modern college president must keep running faster and faster, like the characters in Alice in Wonderland, in order to keep standing still. During the past decade there has been increasing recognition that the college president needs help. At the Greenbrier Conference in 1958, it was generally agreed by specialists in educational management that the president needs help not so much in making major decisions as in seeing that they are carried out. He does need help, however, in decision-making in specialized-operational areas. Also, he needs help in gathering facts on which decision are based, in impressing internal communications, and in his over-all function as first officer of the enterprise.

The function of all administration is to maintain the college through cooperative effort and distribution of the burden. This function has been described by many as getting things done and facing the issues of the moment through the efforts of other people. Progress and efficiency in college administration has as the "heart of the matter" the "efforts of other people" and the "distribution of work."

The Four Estates

Victor Hugo once said, "There is nothing more powerful than an idea whose time has come." Since educational objectives, as well as their concomitant problems, have extended beyond academic affairs or training of the intellect, and because of the tremendous growth in numbers, it has become necessary to adjust the administrative pattern of the College. There now exists at La Salle College what might be known as education's Four Estates. Along with the area of academic affairs, three other sets of activities clearly have emerged: the activities of the student personnel program; the task of handling enormous financial affairs and physical properties, and the many facets of public relations, alumni, and development.

I would like to present four administrators and their responsibilities in these Four Estates at La Salle College. At a later date I would like to add their invaluable associates.

Academic Affairs

The many notes of emphasis that have been sounded in the past few decades do not lessen the importance of the intellectual development of the student. The primary reason for the existence of any educational institution of higher learning is to provide students with a strong curricular program.

This area of academic affairs is under the administration of the Dean of the College with three competent Deans, the Dean of Arts & Science, the Dean of Business Administration, and the Dean of the Evening School, who associate with him as the first academic officers of the college. They share responsibility for the "tone" of the college, measured by such intelligent student qualities as correct manners and dress, maturity and academic competence. The Dean of the College is Brother D. John, F.S.C., Ph.D., Vice-President and associate professor of physics.

He has as his first responsibility a continual appraisal of the academic program, so that the objectives of the College are attained as fully as resources permit. In accordance with these objectives it is his duty, also, to study and plan the development of the faculty. The College looks to his office for the supervision and improvement in instruction through the schools, departments, library and admissions office. Finally, institutional studies, including admissions, and the evaluation of instructions and outcomes of the programs of study fall among his duties. In general, he must assume academic leadership of the faculty and give direction to the programs of instruction so that La Salle will provide the best possible undergraduate education in Arts, Science, and Business Administration to the many who look to it for this service.

Student Personnel Affairs

A program of student personnel services concerns itself with the development of the total student. It implies that the central effort of the College is of an academic nature, but it also recognizes the need for educational experiences that assist students in maturing physically, emotionally, socially, and spiritually—as well as intellectually. In addition to supporting and supplementing the classroom experience, the student personnel program provides certain out-of-classroom experiences contributing to the full development of the student.

The administrator of this second educational estate at La Salle College is the Dean of Students. This program of personnel services has as its guiding factor the philosophy of the College. Guided by this philosophy, the Dean of Students determines procedures and is responsible for developing, supervising, and coordinating the agencies which put the College policies into effect. This educational estate includes the activities of housing, student extracurricular organizations, athletics, the health program, student aid, scholarships, the loan program, religious activities, varied forms of counseling, and finally discipline. Each of these areas has its director, who cooperates with the Dean of Students in the coordination of an area that has been defined as the extension and deepening of an educational program for the development of the whole man to live in a democratic society. The Dean of Students is Brother Gavin Paul, F.S.C., Ph.D., former Director of Properties and assistant professor of sociology.

Financial Affairs

In the early days of higher education in America, the president of a college usually constituted the entire administrative staff of the institution. Since his appointment was usually based on his career as a scholar, his qualifications for administration of the business details often were not considered important.

Of course, the problems of business administration in those early days were much less complex than they are today. The physical plant was much smaller, and the budget only a fraction of what it is today. Gradually, however, the need for professional assistance became recognized, and a third estate was established.

This third educational estate, with the tremendous growth in student numbers, has taken on enormous proportions. The Business Manager at La Salle College

TWO FROM ’59 NAMED LA SALLE ADMINISTRATORS

Two 1959 graduates of La Salle College have been appointed by Brother Daniel Bernian, F.S.C., President of the College, to administrative posts on the Olney Avenue campus.

Joseph L. Hanley, ’59, has been appointed Director of Alumni and, with this issue, assumes the editorial reins of LA SALLE magazine. He succeeds John L. McCloskey, ’48, the alumni executive since 1956, and Robert J. Schaefer, ’54, editor for the past two years.

McCloskey, Assistant to the President, assumes direction of the administrative area which will include development, public relations, alumni, and placement.

John H. Veen, also ’59, was appointed Manager of the $2 million Student Union now under construction on the La Salle campus for occupancy this September.

Hanley, 27, is a native of Indianapolis, Ind., where he attended Cathedral High School, and was graduated with high honors in 1949. Early in 1951, he began four years of duty with the Navy, in which he served 21 months aboard the battleship, U.S.S. Iowa — which saw six months of duty in Korean waters — and nearly two years of shore duty at the Naval Communications Facility at Port Lydney, French Morocco. He had attained the enlisted rank of Yeoman second-class when he was honorably discharged in 1955.

Hanley began simultaneously his college studies and work as student assistant in the Alumni Office, a position he held throughout his four years as a student. He was co-recipient of the Cpl. William S. Diamond Scholarship during his sophomore year. Hanley’s extracurricular activities, while majoring in English-Education, included: treasurer of the Italian Club; staff membership on the Collegian; secretary of the Education Society; co-editor of the 1959 Explorer, and vice-president of La Salle’s chapter of Lambda Iota Tau, the national literature honor society. He was graduated with Maxima Cum Laude honors, after maintaining a Dean’s List standing throughout his undergraduate studies, and now plans graduate studies in English in Temple University’s evening curriculum.

Veen, who received the Bachelor of Arts degree in History, won the acclaim of the La Salle faculty and student body for his spirited leadership of the recent campaign for the carillon system now in the Olney Avenue tower. While president of the Executive Board and of the German Club, he coordinated the many activities that financed the $7,000 system, which was dedicated to the late Pope Pius XII.

His Eminence John Cardinal O’Hara, C.S.C., D.D., Archbishop of Philadelphia; a statesman, and an editor of a national magazine received honorary degrees at the 96th annual La Salle commencement exercise on June 3, in Convention Hall.

In addition to Cardinal O’Hara, who received the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters, the honorary degree of Doctor of Law was presented to John J. Hearne, Ireland’s Ambassador to the United States. The Rev. Thurston N. Davis, S.J., editor-in-chief of America magazine, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters and delivered the commencement address.

Cardinal O’Hara, recently appointed a Prince of the Church by His Holiness Pope John XXIII, studied at the Jesuit College, in Montevideo, Uruguay, before receiving his Ph.D. degree from the University of Notre Dame, and completing post-graduate work at the Catholic University, Washington, D. C., and Holy Cross College. He taught at Notre Dame until 1933, when he was appointed vice-president of the University and in the following year became the twelfth president of the University. From 1939 to 1945, Cardinal O’Hara was auxiliary bishop of the Army and Navy diocese, and was bishop of Buffalo, N. Y., until his appointment as Archbishop of Philadelphia in 1951. The Cardinal instituted the movement for the exchange of students with South American Universities, and promoted the daily reception of Communion by college men.

Ambassador Hearne is a graduate of Ireland’s National University and was the Irish delegate to the League of Nations in 1926, and served as legal advisor to Ireland’s Department of External Affairs, Dublin, in 1927. He has been the Irish Ambassador to the United States since 1950.

Father Davis, a native Philadelphian, was graduated from Georgetown University in 1937, and earned both his master’s degree and doctoral degree from Harvard University in 1946 and 1947, respectively. He entered the Society of Jesus in 1931 and was ordained in 1942. After serving as instructor in pre-Socratic and Platonic philosophy at Fordham University’s graduate school of arts and sciences, he became a contributing editor of America in 1953. In 1955, he was named editor-in-chief of the magazine.
LA SALLE JUNIOR AWARDED SUMMER RESEARCH TASK

A La Salle College junior, Robert J. Rosemary, has been granted a National Science Foundation award to take part in the 1959 Summer Undergraduate Research Program at the University of North Carolina.

A 1956 alumnus of La Salle High School, attending La Salle College under a National Merit Scholarship, Rosemary was one of ten selected from more than 100 applicants across the nation. He is majoring in Chemistry and has maintained an almost perfect scholastic record.

The purpose of the summer program, as outlined by the University of North Carolina, is to provide undergraduate students with "research experience of the highest possible type with the hope that they will be stimulated to pursue their education beyond the college level." The students are permitted to select a research director from the University's staff, and are assigned, in general, to a problem which can reasonably be expected to be completed within ten weeks, the duration of the program. In addition, they attend conferences and seminars in each student's field of interest. The students are paid for their services on an hourly basis, with tuition and fees remitted by the University.

31 GRADUATES WIN GRAD SCHOOL AWARDS

Thirty-one graduates of the Class of '59, at this writing, have been awarded scholarships, assistantships, or fellowships for graduate school studies during the 1959-60 academic year.

The award winners, many of whom received multiple offers, were the following:

Biology: Stanley Rzepela, scholarship, Hahnemann Medical College, and John N. Statthakis, scholarship, Philadelphia College of Osteopathy.

Business: John J. Duffy, Jr., scholarship, Villanova Law School; James J. Feerick, assistantship, Indiana University; John F. Reardon, assistantship, University of Pittsburgh, and Thomas J. Boyce, scholarship, Harvard University Graduate School of Business.

Chemistry: John F. Flood, teaching-fellowship, Notre Dame University; Edward J. Spanier, assistantship, Purdue University, and Thomas F. Toomey, Jr., scholarship, University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine.

Economics: John A. Duffy, Jr., assistantship, Boston College, and William J. O'Brien, Jr., scholarship, Catholic U.

English: Dennis M. Cunningham, assistantship, Villanova Graduate Theatre Department; Bernard V. McCabe, fellowship, Niagara University, and Michael J. Tanney, Jr., instructorship, Tufts University Drama and Speech Department.

Foreign Languages: Bernhardt G. Blumenthal, Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, Northwestern University, and Thomas J. Nolan, assistantship, Boston College.

History: Albert J. Dorley, assistantship, Niagara University; John W. Hedges, scholarship, Temple University School of Law, and Joseph T. Makarewicz, scholarship, Marquette University.

Pre-Law: Joseph A. DiSandro, scholarship, Temple University School of Law; Francis E. Gleeson, Jr., scholarship, University of Pennsylvania Law Center, and Francis J. Trzuksowski, assistantship, Georgetown University Law School.

Philosophy: John V. Touey, assistantship, Fordham University.

Physics-Math: James J. Facenda, assistantship, Illinois Institute of Tech; Charles W. Fischer, Jr., assistantship, University of Notre Dame; Robert M. Fleming, fellowship, University of Notre Dame, and Lawrence Ott, assistantship, Temple University.

Psychology: James B. McCool, assistantship, Temple University, and Francis J. Murphy, assistantship, Princeton University, (latter declined in favor of Redemptorist priesthood).

Sociology: John J. Feehan, traineeship, University of Pennsylvania School of Social Service.

AFRICAN STUDENTS ELECT LA SALLE SENIOR

George K. Dunye, of Liberia, and now a member of the Class of '60 at La Salle College, was elected president of the All-African Student's Union of Greater Philadelphia for the 1959-60 academic year, at a recent Union meeting.

Dunye is majoring in finance at La Salle under a grant-in-aid from the Liberian government. He has been vice-chairman of the Union's publicity committee since 1956 and, in 1958, he founded the Liberian Student's Association of Philadelphia, and was elected its president. He remains vice-president of the latter. At La Salle, he is a member of the International Relations Club, and has been a member of the soccer team for the past two seasons.

Dunye, who recently married an American girl, the former Edith I. Hamilton, was graduated from St. Patrick's High School, Liberia, in 1952, and, the following year, flew to the U.S. at the invitation of the American government. During this visit, he worked at the U. S. Census Bureau, and found time to visit New York, Cleveland, and Pittsburgh, where he toured the offices of IBM, Remington Rand, the United Nations, and U. S. Steel. He returned to Africa after six months, with hopes and plans for furthering his education in this country. His dreams materialized when he again crossed the Atlantic in 1956 to enroll at La Salle, under the sponsorship of the Institute of African-American Relations and the Liberian government.
SAMUEL REGALBUTO MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP ESTABLISHED

The Samuel Regalbuto Memorial Scholarship, for four years of study at La Salle College, was recently established by Mrs. Florence Regalbuto, widow of the former Commissioner of Public Property in Philadelphia.

The full-tuition scholarship, provided by a trust fund established by Mrs. Regalbuto in memory of her husband, will be awarded to the young man who meets all academic requirements of the College, while manifesting financial need. It will be renewable annually to the initial winners.

Mr. Regalbuto was born in Sicily, where he began a career in pharmacy which he continued briefly upon his arrival here. Soon after, however, he established the Western Flour Company of Pennsylvania and of Trenton, New Jersey, to which over 35 years of his life were devoted.

A veteran of the first world war, Mr. Regalbuto was cited for his charitable works by the late Pope Pius XII in 1952, and was awarded the Star of Fidelity by the Italian government in 1955. He was executive vice-president of the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company, a member of the American Legion, the Variety Club of Philadelphia, the Penn A.C., and the City Businessman's Club.

GROUND BROKEN FOR NEW LA SALLE HIGH

Brother Daniel Bernian, F.S.C., President of La Salle College, and Brother E. Francis, F.S.C., Principal of La Salle College High School, officiated at groundbreaking ceremonies July 7 for the new La Salle High, for which a $2.3 million contract was awarded to James J. Clearkin, Inc.

Construction plans are set for occupancy in the Fall, 1960.

The new high school, which will be erected at Cheltenham Avenue and Paper Mill Road, Springfield Township, Montgomery County, represents the third major phase in the ten million dollar Centenary expansion program at La Salle College. Two other building are now under construction on the Olney Avenue campus: a Student Union, scheduled to open this September, and a Science Building, set to open in 1960.

Construction of the new high school on the 76-acre site, formerly the “Belcroft” estate of Clarence E. Brown, will permit the College to utilize the present high school building — now on the College campus — to help accommodate its expanding enrollment.

Designed by the architectural firm of Nolen and Swinburne, with Mr. Victor Kush in charge and Brothers E. Francis, F.S.C., and David Albert, F.S.C., as consultants, the new high school will be one of the most modern of its kind in the Philadelphia area. Planned to accommodate a minimum of 800 boys, with provisions for future expansion, the edifice will be of reinforced concrete and steel construction. The exterior facing will be of brick, glass, and metal curtain walls.

Brother Francis, principal of the high school, said that the new structure will include a three-story academic wing, housing 32 classrooms and laboratories. It will be separated from the huge auditorium and gymnasium areas by a low, one-story air-conditioned administration building and library, housing some 20,000 volumes. Both the administrative and library units will face on interior, landscaped courts.

Cafeteria, kitchen, band room and mechanical services, will be under the auditorium and gymnasium, and will lead out into a separate exterior recreation area, which is partially covered to provide sheltered areas during inclement weather.

Features of the new building will include exterior sunshades, and grey, heat-absorbing glass, to reduce glare and heat in all classrooms with southern exposure. The gymnasium will be entirely lighted, and corridors and stairways will be located so that there will be no cross-traffic of students even during heavy peak-load at lunch hour.

The fine, old “Belcroft” mansion on the estate, will be altered and enlarged to provide a complete faculty residence for 32 Brothers. A new chapel, to be shared by the Brothers and students, will become one of the new wings of the mansion. Other structures on the property, such as the carriage house, will be moved and used for athletic storage after the planned construction of complete outdoor athletic facilities. Varsity football will be played at 20th Street and Olney Avenue until the new stadium is erected.

PH.T. DEGREES

Wives of 165 La Salle College seniors received the Ph.T.—Putting Him Through—degree at the College’s sixth annual Ph.T. program, on May 31 in the College Auditorium.

Alphonse H. Clemens, Ph.D., Director of the Marriage Counseling Center, Catholic University of America, delivered the commencement address. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Halpin, wife of Charles A. J. Halpin, a 1948 graduate of La Salle, and a member of the faculty, received a special degree at the ceremonies. Mrs. Halpin, mother of eight children, will be honored for her outstanding role as wife and mother.

The Ph.T. degrees were conferred by Brother Daniel Bernian, F.S.C., Ph.D., president of the College.

HISTORICAL REPORT I

Brother Teliow, F.S.C., Founder of La Salle College

by Bernard H. Moss, D.D.S., '26

The first community of the Brothers of the Christian Schools in Philadelphia, was established August 22, 1853, with Brother Adelbert, F.S.C., as its first Brother Director, and the classrooms of the Assumption B.V.M. and St. Peter's parishes for their initial classes. The Brothers first settled in the former parish, and later resided in St. Peter's at Fifth Street and Girard Avenue.

In 1854, Brother Teliow, F.S.C., was appointed Director of the Community, succeeding Brother Adelbert. Brother Teliow, who came to America and settled in Cincinnati as Bernard Fallkeled, entered the Brother's Novitiate in St. Louis when 23 years old and received the habit on June 21, 1851.

Upon assuming the responsibilities of Brother Director, Brother Teliow strove to enlarge the scope of the Brothers' activities and, in September 1858, St. Michael's Parochial School was opened with the assistance and cooperation of its pastor, Father McLaughlin. During the vacation period of that year the Brothers, now numbering six and teaching 500 pupils, moved to St. Michael's.

Classes rapidly expanded under Brother Teliow and, upon the opening of St. Ann's School in 1859, he was Director of 17 Brothers and three schools, St. Peter's, St. Michael's, and St. Ann's; the Assumption B.V.M. was relinquished. In addition, in 1862, the Christian Brothers' Academy was opened as a high school, attached to St. Michael's, at 1419 N. Second Street.

Deeply impressed by the sanctity and learning of the Brothers, the Most Rev. J. F. Wood, then Archbishop of Philadelphia, urged them to seek a charter for the new high school and for a college, a teaching level on which the Brothers were to engage "at once." This aim was realized in 1863, when Brother Teliow successfully applied to the legislature of the Commonwealth for a charter for "La Salle College in the City of Philadelphia."

Shortly after receiving the charter, Brother Teliow was appointed Rector of the New York Catholic Protectory, in September, 1863. In 1870, he was invited by the government of Ecuador to be consultant on the establishment of training schools for boys.

By now internationally recognized as an authority on education and child welfare, Brother Teliow was next summoned to France, and later assigned to California. In 1879, he was in charge of St. Mary's Training School, Feehanville, Ill., and in 1884 he was assigned to St. Joseph's Industrial School, Glencoe, Ill. His last post, before his death on September 21, 1900, was the directorship of St. Francis de Sales Industrial School, Ed- dington, Pa.

At the request of the New York Catholic Protectory's Board of Managers, Brother Teliow was laid to rest in the cemetery adjacent to St. Raymond's Church, Westchester, N. Y., with his faithful co-worker, Dr. Ives, founder of the New York Protectory.

La Salle College earnestly solicits the interest and support of friends to bring to a complete realization the goals of the development program which will enable La Salle to render greater service to the youth of our nation and, particularly, the youth of the City of Philadelphia. There are a number of reasons why La Salle College is worthy of this interest and support from Industry, Corporations, and individuals. The following are foremost among them:

1. Ninety percent of the student body, now numbering nearly four thousand, are from the city of Philadelphia and its environs. La Salle College is a Philadelphia college, in the city, and of the city. A recent survey of the alumni reveals that almost all of the graduates of the College remain in this metropolitan area.

2. The College, in a practical and effective manner, is seriously concerned about making available to young men of modest financial resources—men whose potential can be of great usefulness because of a college education—an opportunity to secure this education. Tuition fees at La Salle College have been traditionally modest. Student aid averages over $120,000 each year. This amount is many times over the average amount of assistance given annually by a college of similar size and character.

3. The College, in existence close to one hundred years, has been preparing professional men, doctors, dentists, teachers, lawyers, accountants, etc., who have been serving metropolitan Philadelphia.

4. Requiring military instruction of all physically able students through the Reserve Officers Training Program, La Salle is sharing fully in the national effort to prepare youth to assume its rightful responsibilities in our democracy.

5. La Salle College is rendering a large measure of service to industry and business by providing, in the Evening Division program, an opportunity for men gainfully employed to secure a college education and in this way to prepare them to give a better and more efficient service to their employers.

6. By giving her students an education based on sound Christian principles which respect the dignity of the human person and human society, La Salle College is making a real and substantial contribution to the preservation of our cherished American birthright of freedom in a democracy.
