How Have Black Lives Mattered at La Salle, Then and Now?

Katie Carey
La Salle University, careyc@lasalle.edu

Ludmille Glaude
La Salle University, glaudel1@student.lasalle.edu

Rebecca Goldman
La Salle University, goldman@lasalle.edu

Alicia Miller
La Salle University, millera38@student.lasalle.edu

Maureen O'Connell
La Salle University, oconnellm@lasalle.edu

See next page for additional authors

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.lasalle.edu/explorercafe
Part of the African American Studies Commons, Archival Science Commons, Higher Education Commons, and the Social History Commons

Recommended Citation
Carey, Katie; Glaude, Ludmille; Goldman, Rebecca; Miller, Alicia; O'Connell, Maureen; and Rush, Cherylyn, "How Have Black Lives Mattered at La Salle, Then and Now?" (2017). Explorer Café. 52.
http://digitalcommons.lasalle.edu/explorercafe/52

This Presentation is brought to you for free and open access by the Explorer Connection at La Salle University Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Explorer Café by an authorized administrator of La Salle University Digital Commons. For more information, please contact careyc@lasalle.edu.
Authors
Katie Carey, Ludmille Glaude, Rebecca Goldman, Alicia Miller, Maureen O'Connell, and Cherylyn Rush
“The word archives refers to the permanently valuable records—such as letters, reports, accounts, minute books, draft and final manuscripts, and photographs—of people, businesses, and government. These records are kept because they have continuing value to the creating agency and to other potential users. They are the documentary evidence of past events. They are the facts we use to interpret and understand history...

Archivists are the professionals who assess, collect, organize, preserve, and provide access to these records.”

What Are Archives? from the Society of American Archivists

http://archivists.org/about-archives
“The temple reflects the power of authority and veneration. The prison wields the power of control. The restaurant holds the power of interpretation and mediation. These represent the trinity of archival functions: selection, preservation, and access. Archives are places of knowledge, memory, nourishment, and power. Archives at once protect and preserve records; legitimize and sanctify certain documents while negating and destroying others; and provide conditions under which they may examine the archival record.”

Randall C. Jimerson, Archives Power: Memory, Accountability and Social Justice
Institutional archives have an ethical responsibility to fully document their parent institutions, but this responsibility can conflict with the responsibilities of the parent institution and other departments.
By choosing which documents to collect, and which documents to not collect, archivists actively shape the historical record. These choices are not neutral, and they reflect the biases of the archivists, the parent institution, and the larger societies in which they exist.
Archives have the power to collect documents without the consent of the people who created those documents.
Get instant updates on #lasalle150/

Join Twitter today

- Full name
- Email
- Password

Sign up

Results for #lasalle150/

Tweets

Top / All

LaSalle SGA @LaSalle_SGA
Give aways include: Cheesecake bites, mini cheesesteaks, hot dogs and pretzels, hot fudge sundaes, and cupcakes #LaSalle150

Cameron M. Cabrera @CamCabz
Be there. #LaSalle150 instagr.am/p/W0mbe8ymu8/

AJ Groy @AJGROY
#LaSalle150 countdown on McCarthy Field this Tuesday 11-12!
Free T's and Refreshments instagr.am/p/W0jTCRxUFO/

Terry @TerrytheNurse
Next week is the 150th anniversary of La Salle University. The Christian Bros and my La Salle experience...priceless. #LaSalle150
SAN FRANCISCO — Police monitored and tracked protesters in Baltimore and Ferguson, Mo., using data from Twitter, Facebook and Instagram provided by a Chicago company that analyzes social media for law enforcement, according to the ACLU.

The data given to police by Geofeedia, which sifts through real-time feeds of social media posts to deliver analysis to clients, included the locations of users.

The ACLU said after it alerted the social media companies, Instagram cut off Geofeedia’s access to public user posts and Facebook cut off its access to a topic-based stream of public user posts. Twitter suspended the company, Geofeedia, from receiving its commercial data, Twitter said in a tweet Tuesday.

The language we use to describe archival collections is a form of power.
The Library of Congress rejected White Privilege as a subject heading in 2011:

White privilege is a particular way of viewing racism; instead of looking at the disadvantages that people of color experience, the scholarship examines the privileges white people have. The concept is covered by several existing headings, such as Racism; Race discrimination; [class of persons or ethnic group]—Social conditions; [place]—Race relations; [ethnic group]—Race identity; etc. The meeting feels that the existing subject headings are sufficient. The proposal was not approved.
By controlling access to institutional archives, archivists control who gets to interpret the institution’s history.
Archives are created by the powerful, but they can also be used to hold powerful people and institutions accountable.
Trump Administration

The Trump Administration Archive collects TV news shows containing debates, speeches, rallies, and other broadcasts related to the Trump Administration. This evolving non-commercial, searchable collection is designed to preserve the historical more.
Steve Bannon Is Making Sure There’s No White House Paper Trail, Says Intel Source

The Trump administration's chief strategist has already taken control of both policy and process on national security.

BY KATE BRANNEN | JANUARY 30, 2017 | @K8BRANNEN
What can archival documents tell us about power in La Salle’s history?
1. What are these documents? When were they created?

2. Who created these documents? Who was the intended audience?

3. What can you infer about lives that mattered at La Salle at the time that these documents were produced?
A Lasallian Higher Education Colloquy
Justin Bettis (AASL Treasurer), AASL Member, Allen Jordan (Past-Treasurer), Vanessa Levros (AASL President)
FERGUSON & BEYOND…
PEACEFUL PROTEST – February 2016
President Hanycz, faculty and staff stand in solidarity.
Reading through yik yak, I can see that many people don't understand the meaning of BLM. It means that all people, no matter what their skin color is, matter. It represents all minorities, not just one. It's just that people see it happen to black people the most. If you still don't get it, compare it to cancer. Which one does society talk about the most? Breast cancer. But does that mean that we forget about all other types of cancer? No, of course not. So they have a right to protest because this is happening in society right now. Racism is real and white privilege is real, too. I've seen it in my whole life. If you don't see it, well that's your problem.
PEACEFUL PROTEST II – Nov. 2016

Multicultural and International Center
that was a pretty cool mannequin challenge in the union market. I like how they all wore the same costume, not sure what the signs were about though.
Candle Light Vigil for Peace

Pray for the World.

Please join us as we stand in solidarity and promote love and peace, and remember all the innocent lives lost in recent tragedies all over the world!

Thursday November 19, 2015
4 PM to 5 PM
Main Quad (in front of McShain Hall)

We need to come together collectively as a La Sallian community, and inspire one another through the teachings and beliefs of peace, faith, and love.
What do you need to do in order to create a school environment which fosters positive intergroup understanding and equality?

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>STOP DOING</th>
<th>YOUR INSTITUTION</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>START DOING</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>DO DIFFERENTLY</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Ways to Explore, Program and Create Opportunities for CommUnity

Make Opportunities – Create Brave Spaces

Tap Into Talents – the wisdom of the group is great

Create an Open Environment

Community makes us feel wanted, safe and excited about what comes next.
Q & A...

Closing Clip:

Imagine A World – ADL clip

http://www.adl.org/imagine/#.U_IAUrHD-Uk
THANK YOU!!