La Salle University Achievements 2001-2002

University-wide Achievements

La Salle is again listed among the country's leading regional universities in the northern United States according to U.S. News and World Report. Rankings are based upon a school's academic reputation combined with data on students, strength of the faculty, financial resources, alumni support, and graduation rate.

La Salle was chosen as the site of the Lasallian Leadership Institute for the United States and Toronto region in Summer 2002. The Institute aids faculty and administrators from American and Canadian colleges and universities in designing religious programs.

James J. Lynch, '71, President and C.E.O. of Fleet Bank Pennsylvania, was elected Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

About 130 employers interested in hiring La Salle students for full-time positions and summer jobs, and more than 575 students participated in the 10th annual La Salle Career Expo.

Approximately 66 organizations and more than 480 students participated in the 2002 La Salle Internship Fair.

Over 91 employers came to campus to conduct on-campus interviews, and 587 students participated in the on-campus interview process.

Nearly 200 business executives—mostly alumni—visited campus this past year to interact with business students through classroom lectures, special events, and alumni networking opportunities.

Johnson & Johnson's College Relations department recently reported college hiring results from the recruiting season September 2000 through August 2001. La Salle placed in J&J's Top Ten List (ranked fifth), among 16 schools that provided college hires for the year.

The Nonprofit Center, affiliated with La Salle, provided customized consulting services to 98 nonprofits in the Delaware Valley, helping them with strategic planning, fundraising plan development, financial health assessment, and phonathon organization, among many things.

The Nonprofit Center at La Salle conducted 100 public workshops for 2,088 registrants and 67 customized workshops for 32 different organizations.

Beta Gamma Sigma, the Honor Society for the highest-ranking students from AACSB International accredited business programs, presented La Salle with Honorable Mention in 2001 and 2002 in the Beta Gamma Sigma Outstanding Chapter competition. La Salle was recognized as one of the top five programs out of approximately 400 colleges and universities. La Salle inducts nearly 75 students annually to its Beta Gamma chapter.

La Salle is one of only 17 schools selected nationwide to participate in the Kemper Scholars Program. This program, sponsored by the James S. Kemper Foundation, offers selected students the opportunity to combine their classroom experiences with summer internship positions to enhance personal and professional preparation for a career in business.
The La Salle University School of Nursing has achieved a pass rate of 92 percent for the 2001 NCLEX-RN exam.

The Associated Press has done feature stories about two La Salle collections (one about Bibles, the other devoted to Bob Dylan). Each one appeared in more than 100 newspapers across the country and in foreign newspapers.

Over 89 adults from the community enrolled in the Adult Learning Program classes.

The Division of Student Affairs hosted a delegation of colleagues from the Asian Pacific Student Services Association (APSSA), who selected La Salle as one of five institutions to visit during their tour of the United States.

La Salle’s University Ministry and Service established a close partnership with Inn Dwelling (I.D.), a small nonprofit organization working to bring homeless people to self-sufficiency. As a result of the partnership, five university departments and offices provided their expertise in helping I.D. this year, and in return, our students have been placed at I.D. to learn community development.

The La Salle University School of Nursing’s Nutrition Program was awarded developmental accreditation for a Coordinated Program in Dietetics to begin Fall 2003.

La Salle University was ranked by Yahoo! Internet Magazine as one of the “Top 50 Small Schools” for being technologically advanced. Schools were rated on six elements: (1) infrastructure; (2) student resources; (3) web portal; (4) e-learning; (5) tech support; (6) wireless.

Advancement and Alumni Achievements

Over $2 million was raised for the unrestricted annual fund from key constituencies, which represents $44,245 over goal and a 12.8 percent increase over Fiscal Year 2001 results.

Cash payments on grants and contracts from government and private sources totaled a record-setting $5,386,188—a 31 percent increase above 2000-01.

Examples of some of the major grants and contracts the University received in 2001-02 were: $692,371 from the National Science Foundation for the Greater Philadelphia Secondary Mathematics Project, $360,318 from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services for the Graduate Nurse Anesthesia Program, and $250,000 from the Connelly Foundation for the Speech-Language-Hearing Science Program.

The fourth annual President’s Cup Golf Tournament raised more than $175,000 for the University’s scholarship fund.

Alumni leadership began the process of establishing clubs and chapters in the following regions: Boston, Chicago, Southern California, South Florida, South Jersey, New York, Harrisburg, and Philadelphia.

Community Service Achievements

Currently, more than 1,700 La Salle students are engaged in formal volunteer programs serving the community. They put in more than 100,000 hours of community service in activities such as neighborhood clean-ups, youth recreation organization, food delivery for the homeless and aged, visitation and support for individuals suffering from AIDS, rebuilding homes through Habitat for Humanity, and tutoring and mentoring children from the immediate community.

In support of employment and educational opportunities for community residents, more than 600 persons employed at La Salle reside in the University’s most immediate neighborhoods and about 250 are pursuing studies at the University.

Enrollment Achievements

A freshman application record was achieved for the third consecutive year and for the fourth time in five years. Total applications (4,250 for 2002) have increased 60 percent over the last five years.

The number of resident students at the University—approximately 2,150—is the largest in La Salle’s history. The University’s resident population has grown 21 percent over the last five years.

La Salle’s undergraduate full-time student body (3,315) is the largest since 1990.

The University’s stellar freshman-to-sophomore retention rate of 89 percent is significantly above the 72 percent national average.

La Salle’s M.B.A. Program is one of the largest part-time graduate programs in the region.

Selected Department/Faculty/Staff Achievements

Psychology Professor Ellen Walker received a $1.5 million grant from the National Science Foundation to study treatments for heroin addiction.

Kay Kinsey, Professor of Nursing and Director of the University’s Neighborhood Nursing Center, received many corporate, foundation, and government grants to fund the center, including one federal $4.3 million grant to provide young, first-time mothers with proper pre-natal and early-stage development care.

English Professor James Butler, ’67, edited and wrote the introduction for Owen Wister’s long-lost novel, Romney. Butler found the manuscript in Wister’s archives at the Library of Congress.

Zane Wolf, Dean of the School of Nursing, received the top prize from the International Institute for Human Understanding for Mentorship, Education and Research for her work and research in the areas of nursing education, scholarship, and mentoring.

Edward Turzanski, ’81, who teaches in La Salle’s political science department, has appeared on numerous local, regional, and national TV programs—including “The O’Reilly Factor”—discussing the events and aftermath of the September 11 terrorist attacks.

A profile of Biology Professor Gerald Ballough giving science demonstrations at a Christian Brothers’ Middle School in Camden, N.J., was published in The Philadelphia Inquirer.

Members of the University’s Student Affairs Leadership team presented the program “Together and By Association: One University’s Student Affairs Revolution” at the 2002 convention of the Student Achievements

Forty-eight graduating seniors were inducted into the Alpha Epsilon Alumni Honor Society, which recognizes “high scholarship in the pursuit of a liberal education in the Christian/Judeo tradition, together with the exceptional but unrewarded participation in the extracurricular life of the University.”

Over 110 students were honored with the Student Activities Achievement Award for significant contributions to La Salle’s out-of-class activities.

Thirty-two students were inducted into the “Who’s Who Among Students in Colleges and Universities.”

La Salle’s Information Technology and Student Leadership Association earned First Runner Up and Rookie of the Year at the 2001 Students in Free Enterprise Regional Exposition and Career Opportunity Fair.

Approximately 40 percent of La Salle’s Accounting graduates began their careers in public accounting with one of the top four accounting firms.

David Murphy, a Communication major, received the Pennsylvania Sportswriters’ Association’s College Sportswriter of the Year Award.

Secondary Education student Michelle Sheridan was honored with La Salle University’s Brother Emery C. Mollenhauer Award and the Archdiocese of Philadelphia’s Apostle to the Youth Award. She represented La Salle at the recent Christian Brothers’ Conference on Children’s Rights in Chicago.

William Schmidheiser received La Salle’s Dr. Victor D. Brooks Award for graduating with the highest academic index in the Continuing Studies Program.

Viola Thigpen received La Salle’s Hugh Carroll Award for participation and leadership in extra-curricular activities and enrichment of the Continuing Studies Program.

Simone Brewster received La Salle’s International Student Award given to a graduating international undergraduate or graduate student for outstanding academic achievement and service to the University community and/or community beyond.

Graduate student Jon Monahan received the Academic Leadership Award from the Philadelphia Chapter of the Society for Information Management.

Ten Nursing Student abstracts were accepted to the 2002 American Public Health Association Annual Meeting, and three student abstracts were accepted for the student poster session.

Dear Friends of La Salle:

On behalf of the University community, I offer my wholehearted thanks to our loyal benefactors. We are encouraged and honored by your vital association with La Salle’s mission.

Despite the challenging economic environment, your support increased significantly this year, and we surpassed our Annual Fund goal. Foundation grants also rose strongly, thanks in part to a major gift from the Connelly Foundation to support our Speech-Language-Hearing Science program. With the generosity of the thousands of benefactors whom we salute here, La Salle continues to build on its fine heritage, preparing the way for even greater achievements.

While this publication can only highlight some of the accomplishments made possible by your investment in La Salle, please know that the University community sees the positive impact of your support in many ways every day.

With your help, La Salle continues developing new academic programs to prepare students for contemporary society. The benefits of such investment include the ongoing success of programs such as Integrated Science, Business and Technology (ISBT), Digital Arts (DArt), and Speech-Language-Hearing Science, all attracting solid enrollment. Today, in fact, a very significant number of our undergraduates have majors that did not exist here just five years ago. And this May, La Salle graduated the first students from our recently instituted Doctor of Psychology program, focusing on clinical psychology.

In the midst of these developments, one thing has remained constant at La Salle: as a Christian Brothers’ university, we focus on and take pride in excellent teaching and in what St. John Baptist de La Salle called “touching the hearts of students.” So your support helps us prepare students not only to have successful careers but also to make a positive impact on the social, political, professional, and moral challenges that are all too present in today’s world.

The success of La Salle’s academic initiatives is reflected in our application and enrollment trends. For the sixth straight year, we had record high undergraduate applications and, in terms of size and quality of academic credentials, the incoming Class of 2006 has kept pace with the impressive classes we have been attracting over the same period. Total undergraduate enrollment is at its highest point since 1990, helped by La Salle’s stellar freshman-to-sophomore retention rate of 89 percent, well above the 72 percent national average.

To build on these accomplishments over the next five years, the University community has been developing the next phase of its Strategic Plan, which will benefit from a very helpful marketing study also just completed.

So, clearly, it is an exciting time to be part of La Salle. It is a time when we are confirmed in St. La Salle’s express belief that God is blessing our ministry. We are most fortunate to have the principles, the plans, and the people to help La Salle reach its full potential as a resource for our students and our society. But that goal cannot be reached without the all-important catalyst of increased involvement and support from our benefactors, especially our alumni.

I look forward to working with you, and many new supporters, to help La Salle fulfill its mission.

Many thanks, again, for your generosity to La Salle and our students.

Sincerely yours,

Brother Michael

Students, faculty, and staff participated in activities, contributed to fundraisers, and held discussions in an attempt to deal with the tragedies of September 11, 2001.

September 2001
- The University opened the Brother Augustine Center for off-campus and commuter students in August 2001. Above is a photograph at the dedication ceremony in January 2002.
- Education Professor Preston Feden, Ed.D. (right), was awarded the Provost's Distinguished Faculty Award at the University's Freshman Convocation in August 2001. Br. Gerry Molyneaux, '58 (far left), received the Lasallian Distinguished Educator Award from Br. Michael McGinniss, '70, La Salle's President.
- Bill Raftery, '63 (left), former class President and now a basketball analyst for ESPN and CBS, and Gary Smith, '75 (right), a writer for Sports Illustrated, were presented with Honorary Degrees at the Fall 2001 Honors Convocation.

January 2002
- Under the direction of new Coach Billy Hahn, Men's Basketball had the most wins (15) since the 1991-1992 season and advanced to the semifinals of the A-10 Tournament.
- The M.B.A. Program celebrated its 25th Anniversary at The Union League of Philadelphia in April, as part of the School of Business Annual Celebration.
- La Salle's major donors were honored with a place in the University's history—a name plaque on the Hayman Center/Tom Gola Arena lobby wall.
- Jack Shea, '59 (left), and Tom Lynch, '62 (right), were presented with the Alumni Association's John J. Finley Award in November 2001. The award is presented in recognition of alumni who have given outstanding service to La Salle University.
- The Charter Dinner/La Salle University Leadership Award Ceremony honored William Sautter, C.P.A., '71, President and C.E.O. of Elliott-Lewis Corporation, and raised more than $200,000 for the University's scholarship fund.
- Justin Cronin, Associate Professor of English and writer-in-residence, received the PEN/Hemingway Award for the best work of new fiction by an author living in the United States for his novel Mary and O'Neil in March 2002.

In October, 2001, La Salle University's Art Museum celebrated its 25th Anniversary with a reception to show its remarkable collection containing approximately 300 works of art in six period galleries. Its founder and Director Br. Daniel Burke is pictured.

La Salle 2001-2002 Timeline

The 10th annual Charter Dinner/La Salle University Leadership Award Ceremony honored William Sautter, C.P.A., '71, President and C.E.O. of Elliott-Lewis Corporation, and raised more than $200,000 for the University's scholarship fund.
Accounting Assistant Professor Brother Gerald Fitzgerald, '70, was awarded the Lindback Award for Distinguished Teaching at Commencement 2002.

Longtime Honors Program Director and Professor John Grady (center, standing) was honored by his former students with an endowment and scholarship in his name.

Explorer basketball phenom Rasual Butler was chosen by the Miami Heat with the 53rd pick in the N.B.A. Draft. He became the first La Salle player selected since the L.A. Clippers took Randy Woods in 1992. He was the only player from the Big 5 who was drafted this season.

For the first time this fall, the new American Studies degree at La Salle was offered to the entire campus community. The degree focuses on all aspects of Americana, from historical names and dates, to the influences of pop culture, the arts, and politics.

Beginning in Fall 2002, undergraduate business students now have opportunities to participate in Study Abroad Programs in Galway, Ireland, and Rome, Italy.

The Vice President for Enrollment Services reports that, in 2002, the Admissions Office had the largest pool of applicants in the University's history.

Annual Alumni Association Awards Bestowed

This year’s recipient of the Signum Fidei Medal is Kenneth Gamble, a Philadelphian known as much for his music as for his work in community affairs.
A Grammy winner for writing the songs “Me and Mrs. Jones” and “If You Don’t Know Me By Now,” Gamble is presently C.E.O. and Chairman of the Board of Philadelphia International Records. He is also the founder and Chairman of the Board of Universal Companies, which has begun one of Philadelphia’s largest community revitalization efforts in its history.
The medal derives its name from the motto of the Christian Brothers, “Sign of Faith.” The Alumni Association presents it each year to an individual who has made noteworthy contributions to the advancement of humanitarian principles in keeping with the Christian/Judeo traditions.

Nicholas J. Lisi, Esq., ’62, and Dr. John F. Reardon, ’59, will receive the John J. Finley Award, given annually to alumni who have provided outstanding service to the University and the Alumni Association.

A member of the University’s Board of Trustees, Lisi also acts as an Alumni Association liaison. He was President of the Alumni Association from 1997-99, and has been an active member of the Alumni Board of Directors for many years.

Reardon, longtime chair of La Salle’s accounting department, retired after teaching for 40 years. He is a recipient of the Lindback Award for Teaching and the first recipient of La Salle’s Provost’s Distinguished Faculty Award.
