Senior Mathew York to Give Address at La Salle University’s Commencement Ceremony

Mathew York, a La Salle communication major from Harrisburg, Penn., will deliver the commencement address at the school’s graduation ceremony, Sunday, 12th. Since the 1960s, the tradition at La Salle has been to have a student deliver the address. Any senior is eligible; York (pictured when he was named Homecoming King last fall) was chosen by a panel of faculty, staff and students.

Public speaking is nothing new for York: at his high school, he helped start a debate team. At La Salle, he’s been involved with Channel 56, the University’s cable station as a reporter, and as an announcer on WXP, La Salle’s student radio station. And at a conference, he spoke before 10,000 people.

He was also actively involved in community service (volunteering for Project Appalachia for alternative spring break several times) and received La Salle’s James A. Finnegan memorial Award, given to a senior who exhibits Judeo-Christian Ideals of Social Justice.

La Salle University to Honor Irish Ambassador to United States with Honorary Degree

Citing his efforts to bring peace to his native country, La Salle University will be presenting an honorary degree to Seán O’Huiginn, Ambassador of Ireland to the United States of America, at the school’s commencement on Sunday, May 12th.

Ambassador O’Huiginn, who joined the Irish Foreign Service in 1969, represented the interests of his country in places as distant and diverse as Saudi Arabia, Denmark, and Mexico. In 1997, Ambassador O’Huiginn presented his credentials as Ambassador to the United States from Ireland to the White House.
