The Office for University Advancement would like to thank you for all that you do to advance the learning experience of students at La Salle.

Regards,

R. Brian Elderton
Vice President of University Advancement
September 10, 2003

Dear La Salle Faculty and Staff:

In this issue of Campus News you will find a note from the Office for University Advancement acknowledging those among our faculty and staff who participated in support of the 2002-2003 Annual Fund.

I am encouraged by the number of participants and wish to add my personal thanks to all those listed as contributors. Your participation and generosity is very important, not only for the funding it provides, but also because it is yet another way of signaling our shared commitment to doing all that we can to benefit La Salle University and the students we serve.

I look forward to our continued association in this, our 140th anniversary year, and to the many things we will accomplish together.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Michael J. McGinniss, F.S.C.
President
As you are likely aware from years past, the Alcohol & Other Drug Program participates in the e-Script program, an on-line business that channels 1% of purchases made at participating merchants back to any charitable organization enrolled in its program. La Salle's AODP is enrolled and, as a matter of fact, just received $145 as the result of those staff and faculty already participating in the program.

Please consider enrolling your various merchant membership cards, e.g., Genuardi's Club Card, in the e-Script program. I can do this for you very easily. All you need do is send me e-mail, include your mailing address and various merchant membership card numbers. Here is a PARTIAL list of the merchants that participate in the program if you use one or more of these merchants, please consider enrolling your cards in the program so the La Salle AODP can benefit from this community service program:

Genuardi's, Budget rent-a-Car, Coldwater Creek, AAMCO Transmissions, Eddie Bauer, MAACO Auto painting, Mary Kay cosmetics, Merry Maids, OfficeMax, Payless Shoes, Pep Boys, Terminix, and TruGreen Chem Lawn to mention but a few. To review e-Script or all its participating merchants, visit http://www.escrip.com

If you are unsure if you are enrolled or want to add merchants to your present enrollment, please contact me as well.

In advance, and to quote the old Bartyls & James wine cooler ads, "we thank you for your support."

Best regards,

Robert

Robert J. Chapman, PhD
Coordinator, AOD Program
Hidden away in the very darkest corners of countries that would rather not acknowledge their existence, there is an army of children whose voices are never heard. They can be raped, tortured, beaten and murdered by adults who supposedly represent the law, yet enjoy almost total immunity from it. These barbaric acts are committed in the name of justice. Children are tortured in police custody. They are held in prisons in inhuman and degrading conditions. They are denied the due process which should guarantee them fair trials. They are sentenced without ever seeing a courtroom. They are held for years without charge. They are housed with adult prisoners who sexually abuse them. They are beaten by sadistic guards. They are sentenced to death. They are forgotten by the world that walks past the bars of their existence.

With unprecedented and unique access to juvenile prisons around the world, this film looks at the experience of incarceration for juvenile offenders in countries as diverse as the USA and India, the UK and Brazil.

The Social Justice Committee presents:

The World Continents Activity for FYO classes

The world continents activity is an interactive way of illustrating the dilemma of scarce resources and overpopulation.

The purpose of the activity is to make the new Explorers more aware of how the choices they make in their personal lives affects society as a whole.

What goes on in the game?
Students are split up according to the color of the card they are randomly distributed (to represent continent population). They are then assigned an area of the classroom. Each group is given a few pieces of candy (to represent the continents' resources). Each group must come up with a solution for dividing the candy among themselves, and then come up with a solution for dividing the candy up among all the groups. The activity is followed by reflection and group discussion.
